SENATE, HOUSE AGREE TO QUIT BY MIDNIGHT

Big Relief Appropriation Passed Easily

Springfield, Ill., June 30.—(AP)—Both houses agreed today that the turbulent special sessions would adjourn sine die as soon as the housing bills are passed after midnight.

Without comment, the senate concurred in house resolutions fixing tomorrow as the final adjournment date for the two special sessions.

The $2,800,000 relief appropriation, key measure in the second special session, and all other bills in the senate calendar were easily passed with little argument. That left only the housing bill and the University of Illinois $700,000 appropriation unpassed and waiting house action.

Although nothing was left to do, the senate decided to come back at 11:45 P. M., in case the house was in a jam.

The Lager bill restoring partial powers to the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission passed the senate, 28 to 13.

The senate concurred on a 36 to 2 roll call to the drivers' license amendments, which weren't disputed, but the representatives delayed until 8 o'clock the passage roll calls on their major bills. The housing legislation, delayed by a senate controversy that resulted in amendments limiting their scope to one Chicago project, can't be given final approval until after midnight.

Pass Appropriation
The only action taken by the house this morning was to pass the $10,000 appropriation under which each senator and representative will get $50 for second special session expenses.

Appropriation of $1,000,000 for financially troubled high school districts was sent to Governor Horner by the senate. Since the governor's state school board was killed, the Parker-Davis bill provided for the high school distribution by a special board of state officials.

Senator Earl B. Searcy, Springfield Republican, raised a question that, despite amendments limiting the housing bills to one Chicago project, they might be made applicable to downstate cities later. Democratic leaders said it wouldn't be done.

Working rapidly the senate passed the Davis bill permitting municipalities to grant permits for oil and gas drilling within corporate limits.

Bolger bill for state control of county old age pension personnel.

Springfield bill for a bond issue to finance a city-county building.

The Knauf-Nowlan-Rennick bill authorizing municipalities to levy a tax for redemption of defaulted sewage system revenue bonds.

2000 VETERANS VISIT HISTORIC BATTLEFIELDS

Gettysburg, Pa., June 30.—(AP)—Two thousand aged Civil War veterans, tenting for the last time on the old camp ground, turned back the pages of the nation's history 75 years today to the stirring events of the great conflict between the North and the South.

Across the same dusty Pennsylvania road that once divided the Union, the remnants of two mighty armies faced each other again as they did nearly four score years ago in the battle that marked the turning point of the war in which many of them fought.

But it was not as the boys in blue and the striplings in gray that the old soldiers met—on this 75th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg—but as comrades, without regard for blue or gray, without heed for Stars and Stripes, or Stars and Bars.

They hobbled together over the battlefield which once had been dampened by the blood of 43,000 fallen comrades, and they pointed out Oak Hill, the bloody angle and Seminary ridge, where much of the fighting took place.

Once again they hailed one another as "Johnny Reb" and "Dixie Yankee," but there was no rancor in their quavering words. Together they sat on the tented verandas of their tented city, swapping yarns about Early and Sheridan and Lee, or joking with the thousands of visitors.

Today was set aside for the veterans to renew old friendships.

LYNCH IS CONFIRMED

Springfield, Ill., June 30.—(AP)—Over strong objections from Senator R. Wallace Karraker, Jonesboro Democrat, the senate voted 38 to 1 to confirm Governor Horner's appointment of Thomas J. Lynch of Glenview as state director of conservation.

Abe Lincoln

Gettysburg, Pa., June 30.—(AP)—Crowds that gathered at the railroad station to welcome veterans arriving for the Blue and the Gray reunion gasped when an "Abraham Lincoln" stepped off the train.

He was tall and slender, and was wearing a long black coat and a black top hat. His chin whiskers reminded those present they had seen of the Civil War time president.

He said he was Orville Melis of Decatur, Ill., attendant for C. H. Collins, 93-year-old Civil War veteran. He looks so much like Lincoln, he said, that he decided to wear Lincoln-like clothes to the 75th anniversary celebration.

BOMBERS HURL DEATH ON TOWN NEAR BARCELONA

Heaviest Raid Since Three-Day Attack In March

Badalona, Spain, June 30.—(AP)—A crushing insurgent air raid hurled death and destruction today into this workers' town five miles north of Barcelona, killing at least 45 persons.

For five minutes a fleet of 10 bombers roared over Badalona, thundering their cargoes into the closely packed houses.

It was the heaviest rain in the Barcelona area since the three day attack on the government capital in March and the severest since Britain launched her plan for a neutral commission to investigate bombings of civilian centers in the Spanish war.

PIERCE GOVT. LINE

Hendaye, France (at the Spanish frontier), June 30.—(AP)—Spanish insurgents pierced the government's main line of defenses before Valencia at two places today in a powerful offensive through the foothills of the Sierra de Espadan range.

The thrust placed vanguards of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's coastal army only about six miles north of the highway from Teruel to the coast and in the Lash highlands before Valencia, less than 40 miles to the south.

Heavy mountain artillery was unlimbered close behind the advancing insurgents.

The government acknowledged that General Jose Miaja's defense troops were overpowered by the onslaught, led by heavily reinforced columns under Generals Garcia Valino and Miguel Aranda.

Aranda's Galician troops, after surrounding Bechl, drove south to the important village of Artana, 38 miles north of Valencia. Artana was pounded by artillery and raked by machine-gun fire.

Reports from Valencia denied Valino forced a crossing of the Mijares river south of Fanfara, as claimed in insurgent field advices.

Veiled Prophets End Convention

Cleveland, June 30.—(AP)—The 49th annual convention of the Mystic Order of Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm passed into history today after an estimated 200,000 wide-eyed spectators viewed the fez-topped legion's "Mardi Gras" parade.

The playground of Blue Lodge masonry last night turned downtown Cleveland into a carnival of dazzling color and thrilling music. For two hours the gaily-attired prophets, augmented by local organizations, marched through streets flanked by tightly-packed humanity.

The order's supreme council installed Edward Blake Winter, of Toronto, Can., as grand monarch, and other officers at its closing session today.

FIREWORKS EXPLODE

De Kalb.—(AP)—Thomas Huntzicker, 33, was replacing a burnt-out electric light bulb in the Secor drug store yesterday when a short circuit sent sparks flying over a large counter display of fireworks. The holiday explosives went off without warning. A ball of fire shot to the ceiling as Huntzicker, three other clerks and five customers ran to the street.

Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze. H. E. Secor, the store owner, said his stock and fixtures were wrecked. He estimated damage at $18,000.

Resemblance

Chicago, June 30.—(AP)—Melvin Purvis, the former Federal agent who sprang the trap on John Dillinger four years ago, stopped off in Chicago long enough to buy a telephone slug.

"Anybody ever take you for Melvin Purvis, the fellow who got Dillinger?" asked the clerk. "You look a lot like him." "Yes, often," answered Purvis laconically.

F. D. R. WOULD EXTEND GOOD WILL POLICY

Points Out Success Of Neighborliness To World

New York, June 30.—(AP)—President Roosevelt declared today on the world's fair grounds that American republics believe the good neighbor policy could succeed on the rest of the globe "if the spirit which lies behind it were better understood and more actively striven for."

The President chose the laying of the cornerstone for the fair's Federal building to make a new declaration against war and to stress the importance of good neighborliness. "All of us realize," he said, "that the affairs of many parts of the world are, to put it politely, somewhat distraught. Such a condition necessarily accompanies wars and rumors of wars."

The Chief Executive noted that "we in this hemisphere are happily removed, in large measure, from fear and from the controversies which breed it."

"In a larger sense, however," he added, "we cannot remain unconcerned, especially because it is our fortune to enjoy friendship and good relations with all nations."

With that in view, Mr. Roosevelt urged extension of the western hemisphere spirit to the rest of the world.

"The policy of the good neighbor," he declared, "is, as we know it, not limited to those problems of international relations which may result in war."

War Possibility Remote

"We are against war and have agreed among ourselves quietly to discuss difficulties in such a way that the possibility of war has become remote. But the policy involves also matters of trade and matters affecting the interchange of culture."

The president said the New York world's fair and the San Francisco fair were "well-timed" for 1939, adding:

"They will encourage that interchange of thought, of culture, and of trade which are so vital today. x x x It has been well said that you cannot hate a man you know."

"Therefore, this exposition will stand as a symbol of world peace, for, without doubt, it is a useful advance of the patient road to peace."

Thanking other nations for participating in the New York fair, Mr. Roosevelt said he hoped they would send many visitors here next year.

"I emphasize this on the ground of reciprocity," he asserted, "because for many years the visiting balance has been somewhat uneven."

"Far more Americans have been traveling to the shores of other continents, especially Europe, than visitors from the other nations to our shores."

"I encourage all of my compatriots to learn all they can at first hand about other nations and to make friends there, but I wish that more of the citizens of other nations could visit us and make friends here."

Premier States Sanjak District Part Of Turkey

Ankara, Turkey, June 30.—(AP)—Premier Jelal Bayar today told the Turkish national assembly that the autonomous Sanjak (district) of Alexandretta "must be Turkish-ruled."

He discussed the advanced stage of negotiations recently entered into with the French government looking toward a military alliance. Syrian nationalists have charged that France was paying for this alliance by sacrificing the Syrian-Lebanese Sanjak to the Turks.

Turkish troops, under marching orders, were on the Sanjak border and were expected to cross soon on general staff instructions—ostensibly to help French troops police the district.

The Turkish assembly granted President Kamal Ataturk's government full power to prolong or denounce Turkish-French treaties applying to the Alexandretta district.

He opened the state hospital 37 years ago and was a pioneer in revolutionizing the treatment of insane persons. Dr. Zeller was credited with starting the movement which resulted in occupational therapy as a treatment for insanity.

VALUABLE GOLD WATCH OF DIXON MAN RECOVERED

A valuable gold watch which was reported to have been taken on the night of June 18 when three local youths held up and robbed Sam Eakles, 71, an old farm hand northwest of Dixon, was recovered last evening by Sheriff Miller and Deputy G. P. Finch.

Charles Konkrite, Jr., a prisoner in the county jail, who was said to have admitted participating in the bold highway robbery, last Sunday told Sheriff Miller that he had thrown the watch in Rock river.

In continuing their investigation the officers went to a tavern in Harmon last evening and recovered the watch, which was said to have been traded last Sunday afternoon for a bottle of whiskey. A prisoner, who is now in custody in the county jail, was reported to have disposed of the watch.

Five Occupants Of German Airliner Reported Safe

Lima, Peru, June 30.—(AP)—The pilot of a Lufthansa (German) airliner, missing three days after a forced landing in the Andes, telegraphed to Lima today that all five occupants of the plane were well except his mechanic, whose leg was broken. The plane was wrecked.

Carrying pilot, mechanic, radio operator and two passengers, priests from Lima, the plane lost its bearings Sunday on a flight from Arequipa, Peru, to La Paz, Bolivia, in stormy weather over the Andes.

The five men reached the village of Carumas yesterday afternoon after a long, difficult journey.

Surprised Before He Could Reach For His Gun

BULLETIN

State's Attorney Edward A. Jones today intimated that he would petition the recalling of the April grand jury next week to investigate at least four criminal cases which are now pending at the September term. The county prosecutor stated that he planned to petition Judge Albert H. Manus of Freeport, who will be in the Lee county court next Tuesday, for an order recalling the April grand jury, to dispose of the pending cases. Seven prisoners, now being held in the county jail, are awaiting grand jury action, it was stated.

Chester Liles, 21, who for several days has been the objective of a search in the northwest section of Lee county, during which city police and sheriff's forces scoured sparsely traveled county roads in Harmon, Nelson, Marion, South Dixon and May townships, was captured yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock by Sheriff Ward Miller and Deputy Gilbert Finch. As was anticipated by the arresting officers, Liles was armed, but was surprised and unable to reach his revolver before he faced the muzzles of the arresting officers' guns.

Liles was resting in the stolen Plymouth sedan, which he admitted taking last Sunday about noon at Alexander park, south of Princeton. He was found just south of the Hill school house, when he was surprised by the sheriff and deputy. When he had identified the officers, he resisted arrest and for a short time attempted to escape, but was subdued and handcuffed, then hauled to the county jail. The officers then returned and brought the stolen car to the jail and above the sun visor, found a nickel-plated revolver, fully loaded with a reserve supply of ammunition close by.

Admits Stealing Five Cars

Late last night, Sheriff Miller stated that Liles had admitted having taken not less than five automobiles, three from Dixon, one from Sterling and one from Princeton. The Edward Duis robbery in South Dixon township last Saturday afternoon, thefts of chickens at two farms in Lee county this week and numerous less important offenses were said to have been cleared up during the questioning of Liles.

Liles was said to have little knowledge of dates or the days of the week, so busy has he been in his operations and efforts to evade pursuing officers. His police record, it was reported, indicated the serving of a portion of a sentence at the St. Charles training school for boys, from where he escaped, the state work farm at Vandalia, where he was sentenced last October from Morrison for a six months term, following a series of thefts from automobiles in both Lee and Whiteside counties. Liles said that he was discharged from the state farm last March.

His only excuse in answer to a question asked by Deputy Gilbert Finch, as to his reason for the long series of thefts was:

"I had to have some money to live and eat with and couldn't get a job."

After questioning the youthful bandit for some time last evening, Sheriff Miller summoned Chief Van Bibber to the county jail to continue his investigations. The chief referred to the theft of the Pontiac sedan from the Merle Wolf home, west of Sterling on the Lincoln Highway as one of Liles' most daring exploits. Three cars had been stolen from the streets of Sterling Sunday evening, June 17, three of these being abandoned. The third stolen machine was left near the Wolf home and Wolf's car was missing. About a half hour later, the Wolf car crashed into a pole on Lincoln avenue and Seventh street, tearing a front door from the machine and causing other damage, but the driver managed to escape injury and sped south on the Pump Factory road. Last week the same car was driven into the Rock river at the foot of Sherman avenue, and when hauled from the river, bore license plates which had been removed from a car belonging to Odell Carpenter, which was stolen from the streets of Dixon about three weeks previously.

Disposed of Loot

Liles, the questioning officers stated, admitted the theft and disposition of the Odell Carpenter car and the Wolf machine, and three others. The investigation was being continued today in an effort to clear up a number of other car thefts which have occurred.

SAYS HISTORY WILL APPROVE HIS SPENDING

Long - Range Budget Will Be Balanced F. D. R. Believes

New York, June 30.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, gazing into the future today, predicted that history would say his "long-range budget" had been balanced.

"This calculation, the president declared, would be based on 'survival values for our population and for our democratic way of living, balanced against what we have paid for them,' in addition to the usual items of government income and outgo."

Addressing the teachers who comprise the National Education association, Mr. Roosevelt also:

(1)—Spoke of countries where libraries have been burned, learned people exiled, universities dispersed and news, art and literature censored as having turned back "the clock of civilization." He did so without naming any country.

(2)—Admonished this country to keep bright the fires of freedom and civil liberties, to redouble efforts to maintain a free press and to provide a safe place for eternal truths.

(3)—Declared for state and local control of schools and their curricula, with the federal government supplementing only the resources of the poorer communities.

(4)—Predicted "the ultimate victory of tomorrow is with democracy, and through democracy with education, for no people can be kept eternally ignorant or eternally enslaved."

The president's speech to the teachers was his second at the New York World fair ground this afternoon.

Holds Up Good Will

In his first address, at the laying of the cornerstone of the fair's federal building, he held up the western hemisphere's good neighbor policy as a model for the rest of the world.

After that he drove across the fair grounds to the education building, where his wife, a one-time teacher, introduced him.

The budget-balancing remark was prefaced with a declaration that "the only real capital of a nation is its natural resources and its human beings."

"If we skimp on that capital, if we exhaust our natural resources and weaken the capacity of our human beings, then we shall go the way of all weak nations," said the president, adding that judged by history's test "I venture to say that the long-range budget of the present administration of our government has been in the black and not in the red."

Discussing federal education aid, Mr. Roosevelt asserted that "no one wants the federal government to subsidize education any more than is absolutely necessary." "But," he added, "we know that in many places local government unfortunately cannot adequately finance either the freedom or the facilities to learn. And there the federal government can properly supplement local resources."

Must Close Gap

The president said there probably was a greater divergence today in the standard of education between the richest communities and the poorest communities than a hundred years ago.

"It is, therefore, he asserted, 'our immediate problem to close that gap—not in any way by decreasing the facilities of the richer communities but by extending aid to those less fortunate.'"

He predicted that unless the gap were narrowed it would widen, and said federal aid "must be confined

EXTRADITION OF INDIANA BANDIT GRANTED TODAY

Springfield, Ill., June 30.—(AP)—Governor Horner granted the extradition to Indiana today of Orelle Easton, under a murder indictment at La Porte for the slaying of an Indiana state trooper.

Easton, the survivor of two North Dakota brothers who shot the trooper, kidnapped two deputy sheriffs and a father and his small son, in their desperate attempt to elude a widespread police net, is being held in the county jail at Kankakee.

The trooper, Ray Dixon, 28, was fatally wounded when he approached an automobile in which the brothers were parked.

Clarence Easton, 27, was shot to death when 100 police officers trapped the brothers on a Deslin, Ill., farm. Orelle, who was wounded superficially, said he and his brother were "working up to" a bank robbery career.

Prosecutor Norman Sallwaser of LaPorte said he would seek to send Easton to the electric chair.

The plaintive notes of the mate in a nearby tree could be heard as McKinley turned a spectral of earth and buried his victim.

DOGGED SEARCH FOR MCCORMICK SEEMS FUTILE

Searchers Combing Sandia Mountain Foothills

Albuquerque, N. M., June 30.—(AP)—Search for Medill McCormick, missing heir to a Chicago publishing fortune, developed today into a dogged, all but hopeless, combing of the Sandia foothills into which he vanished eight days ago.

"The search will go on," said Mrs. Cortland Barnes of New York, the missing youth's sister, "but the forces will be reduced."

Searchers hold to the theory the young man, after his climbing companion, Richard Whitmer, fell to his death from North Sandia peak, hurried through brushy canyons leading to the Rio Grande valley and there was lost, killed or seriously injured.

"We have traced down all rumors and found them false," said Mrs. Barnes. "We have considered every theory of his disappearance and believe the only one tenable is that he is still somewhere in the vicinity of where Dicky Whitmer's body was found."

A further investigation was planned of an unidentified object sighted on the back side of North Sandia park. F. M. Froelicher and Robert Ormes, Colorado Springs climbers, were lost for an hour yesterday in a vain effort to reach it.

The keys to Whitmer's automobile were found yesterday under a rock near where the car was parked by the youths in the foothills, but no significance was attached to the discovery.

LANDSLIDES, QUAKE, FLOOD PERIL JAPAN

Typhoon Reported Swirling Toward South Coast

Tokyo, June 30.—(AP)—A typhoon howled toward Japan's islands today in the wake of two days of horror in which at least 100 persons were killed and 200 others were missing.

Tokyo was virtually isolated by the heaviest deluge of rain in Japan's recorded history and by an earthquake which leveled homes and disrupted rail and wire communications.

The Central Meteorological Institute warned all cities in southern Japan to be prepared for the tropical hurricane blowing northward across the China Sea.

It said the winds would strike late this afternoon unless they were deflected. Most liners and larger freighters remained tied at their docks in Yokohama.

Meteorologists reported the typhoon was approaching the eastern coast of Japan but said they believed it would pass the islands.

A police survey showed a total of 297,379 houses destroyed or damaged throughout the nation and 104 bridges down.

Belated reports from the north indicated there had been a second earthquake and a nation-wide total of at least 177 landslides.

Most of the deaths were in Tokyo and Yokohama. In both cities landslides crumpled homes. A railroad tunnel collapsed near Tokyo and a main

Octagon House

A few minutes before nine that same morning, Asey slid his long Porter roadster up the Octagon House drive—so quietly that the woman didn't even turn her head.

With a grin, Asey recognized Nettie Hobbs in the trailing black dress she reserved for funerals, and doing good.

"I tell you," Nettie said shrilly, "it's some calves foot jelly for poor dear Aaron—"

Pam's laugh rippled out.

"Nettie, she said, 'I'm sure you mean well, but the last thing father wants to put into his mouth at this point is a calf's foot. He can just manage a thin straw.'"

"I must say," Nettie observed acidly, "I guess I know when I'm not wanted!"

"As a matter of fact," Pam returned, "you don't. If you did, you'd have gone straight home Friday night, and all this wouldn't have happened. It's a painful point, but very true."

"You're mad," Nettie said, "because I thought you killed your sister. And if you want to know, I'm not at all sure that you didn't do there!"

"Oh, come," Pam said. "Would you want to be even the stepmother of a murderer?"

Nettie switched around so quickly that she nearly tripped. Her eyes lighted on the roadster, and she stopped her flouncing-off indignation act.

"Oh it's Mister Mayo!" she said, walking over. "Mister—Mister—oh. An odd expression came over her face. "Oh."

"Yup," Asey said, fishing in his pocket "Mister Mayo. You can tell him by his car. When he has the car with him, Nettie, here's a nice shiny 50 cent piece, an' a nice shiny dime. Ordinarily I don't make no refunds, but this 50 cents has been burnin' holes in my pockets—"

He held out the money, but Nettie fled. Pam strolled out of the house.

"Asey, what did you do to her? She's simply deflated! She scuttled!"

"If ever you have any trouble with her," Asey said, "just ask if she needs a good paint job done. Where's everyone, an' how's Aaron?"

"Peg's up with him now," Pam said. "He's loads better, even managed to eat a soft-boiled egg for breakfast. Tim and Gran went tearing off—a telegram came. Some friends of theirs landed in Provincetown, or something. Good Lord, Asey," she added as he got out of the roadster, "what sartorial splendor! What—what elegance! I hadn't got the full force of you in the car. Ain't you something?"

"Uh-huh," Asey said. He saw no need of telling her that Jennie Mayo had stood over him and almost forcibly removed his paint clothes, and thrust him into the white flannels, the while keeping up a steady conversation about his promise to dress up. "So Aaron's really better?"

"He seems almost himself. But I thought," Pam said, "that I'd better nip the calves' foot jelly in the bud. I mean, on the hoof—where are you going?" she asked Peg Boone, as they met her at the door.

Peg smiled.

"Whenever possible," she said. "I avoid the hour. Nine o'clock is going to strike, very shortly. I do wish I hadn't this complex about clocks! What about Jack, Asey? Does Hanson still have him?"

"Oh, Hanson's wandern' around with him. I guess he's got his case, all right."

The clocks began to strike as he and Pam went into the circular hall. Asey listened appreciatively, and stared intently at the smallest clock, in the shape of a cat.

"He Drips Eyes"

"Seems to of lost an eye," he said, knowing full well that the eye was lost, and where it had been found.

"That little one? He drips eyes," Pam said. "I've got an old evening bag, an old yellow beaded thing, that I just use to replace them."

"Yellow evenin' bag, huh?" Asey said. "I hadn't got that far."

"Wait'll I get some cigarettes—"

Jennings nodded. "Used to be a windmill on the top of it," he said. "The old octagonal well. I forgot you had one till I looked it up on them old plans. It's about 100 feet west of the barn, and we can build your—look, let me see Aaron, will you, an' talk with him?"

"What octagonal well?" Peggy Boone demanded.

"It used to be Marina's favorite thing about the place," Pam explained. "She loved it. She fell in it so often that Aaron had the top boarded up, years ago, when we were children. Marina used to brag that she lived in an eight-sided house, with an eight-sided barn and an eight-sided well. It never mattered then if some other child said that her father made more money than our father. Marina would just curl her lip and say that they didn't live in an eight-sided house with eight-sided barns and wells. There was something final about that. Well, come on up, Earl, and talk to Father. Maybe something can be done, if you think so. But we simply haven't got a cent to put into anything. Come on and advise us, Asey. Come on, Peg."

"Wait'll I get some cigarettes—"

Jennings looked at Asey, as they followed Pam up to Aaron's room.

"Talk!" Asey barely moved his lips. "Talk!"

Jennings embarked on a discussion of electricity, its cost and upkeep, and the advantages of a modern water system.

"If you think," Pam said rather crossly, "that we keep a hand pump because we don't hold with these modern innovations, or we're scared of a faucet—you're crazy! No one would be more modern than I, if I were given half a chance. I personally want a house that looks like a tin biscuit box, with inserts of glass and colored bricks, and a top that tilts—Aaron, here's Earl Jennings again. Can you trust yourself to listen to his newest ideas? He seems to mean what he said about laying on water."

"What a Biblical sound that has!" Aaron said. "Come in—"

They had got to the stage of figuring things interminably on the block used by Aaron for his conversations the day before, when Asey heard a car in the drive.

He got up casually and looked out of the window.

Pam and Aaron were too engrossed in the figures to hear his snort of annoyance.

"Be right back," Asey said, and rushed for the stairs.

Those Carrs! That Carr family! He had told them to go away and stay away, and here they were, blundering back at this time, of all times!

Before he reached the bottom of the stairs, a flock of shots rang out. (Copyright, 1938, Phoebe Atwood Taylor) did that Timothy take all his with him?"

"I hope so," Pam said. "It's disgraceful, the way you've been bunning them and making them run out of their own fancy kind. Come on, and let's get this settled."

Jennings looked at Asey, as they followed Pam up to Aaron's room.

"Talk!" Asey barely moved his lips. "Talk!"

Jennings embarked on a discussion of electricity, its cost and upkeep, and the advantages of a modern water system.

"If you think," Pam said rather crossly, "that we keep a hand pump because we don't hold with these modern innovations, or we're scared of a faucet—you're crazy! No one would be more modern than I, if I were given half a chance. I personally want a house that looks like a tin biscuit box, with inserts of glass and colored bricks, and a top that tilts—Aaron, here's Earl Jennings again. Can you trust yourself to listen to his newest ideas? He seems to mean what he said about laying on water."

"What a Biblical sound that has!" Aaron said. "Come in—"

YANKS APPEAR READY TO BLAST WAY TO SUMMIT

Flatten Athletics As Indians Lose To Detroit

BY BILL BONI
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Volunteer medics who have been keeping their fingers on the pulse of the puzzling New York Yankees are heading for the safety of the sidelines. For the Bronx bombers seem about ready to start blasting their way to the top and, when they're in a blasting mood, the sidelines is the only safe place for anyone.

The world champions have looked oddly unfitted for that title on more than one occasion this season. But they looked like nothing so much as a high-geared army tank when they returned to the stadium yesterday and flattened the Athletics into 10-0 and 13-1 submission.

With the three out of four they won at the end of their western trip, that gave the Yanks a record of five victories in their last six starts, four of them in succession. It also gave the Bombers an average of better than 13 hits for each game, and a home run average of two per game.

Yesterday's production, which included five four-baggers, two by Flash Gordon, hit a new high of 27 hits for 49 bases. And, not to be outdone, Lefty Gomez and Bump Hadley took handsome care of the pitching department with a pair of four-hitters. Three of the safeties Gomez surrendered were scratch singles, while Hadley would have had a shut out but for a home run ball he served Frank Hayes.

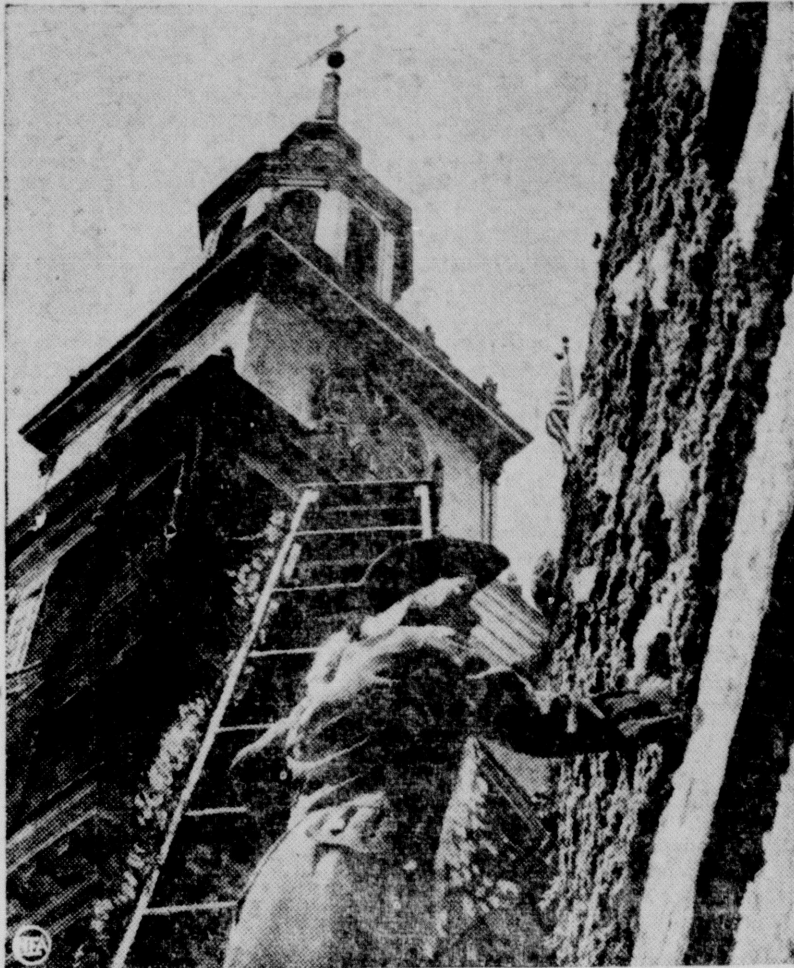

Tigers Stop Indians.
Coupled with the Yanks' twin triumphs came the Cleveland Indians' 4-3 defeat by Detroit—a combination which cut Cleveland's first-place margin to three games. While the Yanks were cutting down on the Indians, Gotham's other entry also climbed a notch. The league-leading Giants, whipping the Phillies, 9-1 and 6-1, increased their lead over the Cincinnati Reds to three games.

With the Giants pulling away from the Reds, who were nosed out 5-4, by the Pirates, the third- and fourth-place teams changed places. The Bucs' victory, accomplished largely through Bill Swift's one-hit relief pitching, moved them four points ahead of the Cubs, who were beaten, 10-5, by the Cardinals for their third straight defeat.

In the other National league game the Dodgers, despite two homers by Dolph Camilli and another by Goody Rosen, lost to the Bees, 7-6, and thus kept intact a record that has seen them lose every league night game they've played.

The Indians, beaten on homers by Billy Rogell and Hank Greenberg of the Tigers, had company in their misery. For three-four-

FINALS OF FOURTH DISTRICT TENNIS MEET ALL-CHICAGO

Chicago, June 30—(AP)—With twelve singles and twelve doubles players already qualified for the national tournament, the fourth district intercollegiate tennis meet went into all-Chicago finals today. Chester Murphy of the University of Chicago's undefeated Western conference championship team faced Marvin Wachman of Northwestern University in suburban Evanston in the singles final while the doubles final was strictly a University of Chicago affair with John Shostrom and Art Jorgensen facing Chet and Bill Murphy.

The qualifiers, who will represent the district in the national tournament July 4 at the Merion Cricket club, Philadelphia, are:
Singles: Don McNeill, national indoor titlist, and Morey Lewis, both of Kenyon college; Chester Murphy, Bill Murphy, Charles Shostrom, John Shostrom and Jack Kreitenstein, all of Chicago; Marion Shane and Donald Worth of Kalamazoo; William Talbert, Cincinnati; Wachman and Milton Reuhl of Western Michigan State Teachers.

BRITISH THINK BUDGE LIKELY TO BECOME PRO

Believe Final Appearance At Wimbledon Is Tomorrow

Wimbledon, Eng., June 30—(AP)—Don Budge, an unchallenged champion, makes what probably is his final appearance on the center court at Wimbledon tomorrow in the singles final with Bunny Austin.

Though he is loud in his denials, Wimbledon is convinced Budge will turn professional after the Davis Cup matches and the United States championship this fall.

He'll get a hero's farewell when and if he walks off with the challenge cup early tomorrow evening. Everywhere it is recognized that the match is more a case of "when" than "if".

No man in the past fortnight has been able to take a set from him. All told he has lost only 44 games in six matches and the most anybody has been able to take has been eight.

Nevertheless he insists, "I am not in the least interested in turning pro at the moment." But he is not saying when his interest may pick up.

CHAPMAN, FOUND BY ATHLETICS, GREAT BATTER

Keeps Connie Mack Content Despite Lowly Team

New York, June 30—(AP)—Connie Mack is getting many a quiet chuckle these days as he sits in the Athletics' dugout and watches Sam Chapman, his slugging rookie from the University of California, roam the outfield.

Next to Ken Keltner, Cleveland's third baseman, Connie considers his big all-American football star the most important discovery of the season. The 26-year-old leader suspects he has chanced upon a truly great star.

From the day Chapman entered the lineup he has been pounding the ball, and several of his wallops have been prodigious. He missed the distant centerfield bleachers in St. Louis by only a few feet with one smack, and another hit the top of the Detroit score board.

Connie Enthuses.
"Goodness, how he hits that ball," enthused Connie. "And, you know, the funniest thing is that both the Yankees and the Red Sox had a chance at him first. Both wanted to start him in the minor leagues, though, and Sam was determined that he would pass up baseball entirely if he couldn't play in the majors."

"No, even Chapman doesn't make us a pennant threat," the aged leader smiled. "We need a couple more top-notch men to make things interesting. But I'll tell you who is likely to win the pennant—Cleveland. They're very strong."

"If the Yankees overtake them now I will be surprised. The Yankees of the last two years probably would have beaten them, but somehow a team that wins the championship twice never plays quite as well the third year. Don't ask me why, but it has been so with my great clubs. Seems like they just get tired of winning."

GAG DROUGHT

This is alarming.

Pittsburgh is opening a battle on smoke to end all battles on smoke. And the result, of course, is going to be the end—eventually—of all jokes about smoke over Pittsburgh.

Jokesmiths: watch it. Whither are we drifting?

New York and noise used to be stock joke material, but the anti-noise campaign seems to have checked that subject off the list. If things keep up like this, the professional gagsters some day are going to be left with nothing geographical to joke about.

No jokes about:

The wind in Chicago.
The fog in San Francisco.
The emotional chill in Boston.
The altitude in Denver.
The blasts of hot air in Washington.
What a situation!

A REPUTATION TO MAINTAIN

Whatever became of surrealist art? Nothing in particular became of it—the public simply got over the shock after a little, and proceeded to turn its attention to something else.

And maybe that's too bad. Something that a lot of people probably haven't thought of has just been suggested by an observation a very conservative painter made about this school of painting.

Studies of damsels with clocks in their foreheads and lamb-chops hanging from their hair may be merely a passing experience to you, but to gallery-goers of the future these paintings are going to be clues to the character of our time.

A conservative painter has predicted that surrealist art will live, and when a conservative painter says that about a radical school of painting, the chances are he's right.

If your grandchildren are not to blush and simper apologetically when they speak of you, something, certainly, must be done about the situation fast.

Maybe there's nothing left to do but feed the artists after all. Good, nourishing food to build up the constitution and brighten—normalize—the cast of mind.

A COUPLE OF REMINDERS

If a large amount of publicity had been given to the recent Atlantic City convention of the Industrial Research Institute, there'd probably have been considerable mind-changing going on about two convictions of long standing in this country.

The principal speaker at the convention's opening session, Maurice Holland, nationally known industrial research director, Holland stated frankly that both Germany and Russia were doing a vastly greater amount of valuable research in industry and business than the United States. "We want to increase the productivity," he said of this country's research body, "by giving national direction to their efforts."

It was agreed at the convention that there was a need here for "patient money—money willing to wait a long time for returns." Delegates to the convention were representatives of a number of the country's greatest businesses.

It seems that (Correction No. 1) there are actually other countries that are doing some things better than we. And it seems that (Correction No. 2) business is not the arch-enemy of everything savoring of long-range planning.

Business' disagreement with many political long-range plans has resulted in an unjust conception of the business man as a congenitally short-sighted muddler-through. But business does its own long-range planning.

BON VOYAGE

A refreshing wind strayed into the news columns the other day and moved off laden with a briny smell of adventure.

A young skipper of a modest fishing vessel put out from New York harbor, bound northward for the Arctic. He looked forward to going as far as the ice would permit, and he guessed he'd be back along about September.

His name was Capt. Bob Bartlett, and he figured he'd be spending his sixty-third birthday somewhere north of Greenland. It was all old stuff to Captain Bartlett, but none of the excitement had gone.

He did his first exploratory sailing in 1897, with Peary. When he sailed from New York the other day it was his fifteenth polar voyage.

"All I want," he remarked before he weighed anchor, "is the strength to go in my little schooner, for that is all I have, and when she stops so do I."

Which sounds as if "Captain Bob" was a man content with little enough; but there's more than one man half his age who knows the captain is wealthier in life's treasures than most men can ever possibly hope to be.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Three times as many men as women risk crossing diagonally, as reported by A. R. Ellis, of the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory. They risk their lives to save just a fraction of one second! Just as many women as men are middle-of-the-block jay walkers, although it takes four seconds longer to cross the street there than at the corner. As suggested by Wm. Morton Wheeler, Harvard biologist, when Linnaeus named man Homo Sapiens—wise man—he was probably speaking in sarcasm.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Dr. Harold Lasswell, of the University of Chicago, says that all dictators are characterized by extreme anxiety, fear, feeling of insecurity and profound loneliness. To achieve security and break their isolation, they strike their enemies right and left and murder their way to power. They strive to overcome these feelings of anxiety by exacting slavish obedience from others, and punish disobedience with death. They sway multitudes by their oratory because they fly into the passions that the crowd would like to indulge in and, by applauding the passions of the orator, the crowd and speaker go crazy together. Sounds just like em, doesn't it?

Answer to Question No. 3

3. So two of our leading experts on population, Drs. Warren S. Thompson and P. K. Whelpton, argued in a recent address to the American Academy of Political and Social Science, a population increase the people seek to break over their boundaries and claim other territories that have the resources they desire. This is especially true when they enter on industrial development and need raw materials and markets. These students do not justify war from these causes but merely point out that these conditions do cause wars and—until we allocate the world's resources—always will. Copyright 1938, John F. Dille Co.

WASHINGTON—The big business tycoons who met a group of New Deal militants at the home of Assistant Secretary of Commerce Robert Patterson, on the night the President made his radio speech, got an earful of the Administration's views on enforcing the anti-trust laws and investigating monopoly.

Solicitor General Bob Jackson and Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold, No. 1 and No. 2 trust-busters, gave them the low-down straight from the shoulder. "Whether you like it or not, gentlemen," Jackson told the industrialists, "it is absolutely imperative for the welfare of the country that it get a realistic picture of underlying economic and financial facts."

"It is vitally important to know what effect taxes have on industry; for example, whether it is true the capital gains and undistributed profits taxes hurt business or didn't hurt business. Both business and the Government ought to know how various kinds of taxes operate on the economic system."

"It is our intention to get this information. We hope you will cooperate with us, but whether you do or don't we mean to get at the facts and bring them to the light of day."

Arnold, former Yale law professor, also tossed out some pointed plain talk, sandwiched between salty witticisms.

"This monopoly investigation," he said, "is not going to be a 'witch hunt.' Get that out of your mind. We are not after headlines, and we most emphatically are not out to 'get' anyone or any corporation."

"Our purpose is to get the facts about our national economy; how it operates, where it is going, what are the causes of its trend. We propose to get this information in an organized and scientific manner, so that we know what we've got after we get it."

"As to enforcement of the anti-trust laws, I can tell you this: As long as I am head of the anti-trust division, violators will be prosecuted to the hilt. There is going to be none of this stuff of enforcing the law on Monday and carte blanche for the rest of the week, the policy under previous Administrations. We are making no threats and issuing no ultimatums, but as long as the law is on the statute books I am going to enforce it."

"That doesn't mean, however, that a business man can't come in and discuss his problems with us. My door is always open to anyone who wants to come in and lay his cards on the table and frankly talk things over. Despite a quite general belief in certain quarters, well known to you gentlemen, we are not devils with horns, as you can see for yourselves."

Business Representatives

This was the third informal talk that the business leaders and New Deal generalissimos have had in a month.

The get-togethers were instigated by W. Averell Harriman, liberally inclined head of the Union Pacific Railroad, former NRA executive, and chairman of the Business Advisory Council, when it became certain that Congress was going to authorize the monopoly probe recommended by the President last spring.

Their purpose is to enable the industrialists to exchange man-to-man views on the investigation with the real powers within the Administration. Harriman believes that certain basic reforms must be made in the economic system and that business stands to gain more by cooperating in making these changes than by persisting in an intransigent attitude.

The business conferees so far have been confined to members of the Business Advisory Council. Most of them are inclined to be friendly toward the Administration and some have held office under it.

Among the big-guns who sat in on the talks have been General Robert Wood of Sears, Roebuck; Clarence Francis of General Foods; Walter C. Teague of Standard Oil of New Jersey; William L. Batt of SKF; Edward R. Stettinius of U. S. Steel; Marion Folsom of Eastman Kodak; Sidney Weinberg of Goldman, Sachs, a director of the New York Stock Exchange; S. Clay Williams of Reynolds Tobacco, former NRA head; Gano Dunn of J. G. White Engineering; and Arthur Whitehead of Dun & Bradstreet, one-time Assistant NRA Administrator.

A very significant feature of these talks is that the Administration men asked to meet them have all been militant New Dealers. Not one of the President's conservative lieutenants or advisers was invited.

This is very realistic thinking and shrewd strategy on the part of Harriman's group. They have grasped the fact that the young crusaders are the real power in the inner White House council on basic economic issues, and that the Administration's attitude toward business is being powerfully influenced, if not largely shaped, by them.

In addition to Jackson and Arnold, the New Dealers who participated in the confabs were Bill Douglas and Jerome Frank of SEC; Herman Oliphant, Treasury counsel and author of the undistributed profits tax; Dr. Isadore Lubin of the Bureau of Labor Statistics; Dr. Leon Henderson, WPA economist; Tom Corcoran, Ben Cohen; and Laughlin Currie, economist of the Federal Reserve Board.

As he struggled to right it, the connection holding his safety belt to the glider seat broke, and Hosken fell to the ground. The glider crashed nearby.

Cost of European Travel Discussed by Dr. Eugene Vest

Dr. Eugene Vest was guest speaker yesterday afternoon, when 60 women of the Aid society of Grace Evangelical church gathered in the church parlors for their monthly meeting. Dr. Vest, who returned some time ago from several months of foreign travel, chose for his subject, "Prices of European Travel."

Mrs. Norman Dietrich introduced the speaker, who gave his listeners an interesting glimpse into the monetary difficulties which travelers abroad experience upon entering various countries. He also discussed prices at hotels, cost of travel, food, movies, and books, and admission fees at various art galleries.

Special music included a vocal solo by Mrs. Ray Herbert accompanied by Mrs. R. Fred Krahler, a cornet solo by Mrs. Krahler with her daughter, Miss Marilyn, at the piano, and a vocal duet by Mrs. George D. Nielsen and Mrs. A. Klein, accompanied by Mrs. Ray Wulbrandt.

A brief business meeting conducted by Mrs. Klein, the society president, was followed by serving of refreshments in the church basement. Members of Section No. 5, with Mrs. Dietrich as chairman, were co-hostesses for the afternoon.

A social meeting was announced for Wednesday, July 7, when Section No. 1 will entertain.

Cotton, Livestock Producers Are At Opposite Poles

Washington, June 30.—(AP)—Agriculture department economists reported today that cotton farmers held the bottom rung and livestock producers the top in the agricultural price ladder.

Cotton prices are such, they said, as to bring producers only 55 per cent as much as they should receive to be on a price equality with industry and labor. Livestock prices were said to be 94 per cent of the industrial level.

The purchasing power of other classes of farm products, in percentage of industrial prices, were reported: grain, 62 per cent; dairy products, 79; truck crops, 80; poultry, 80 and fruit, 59.

The general level of farm prices, the economists said, was 74 per cent of the industrial price level.

STOCK MARKET BOOM ACTIVITY IS REFLECTED

New York, June 30.—(AP)—Booming activity in the stock market in the past ten days was reflected as arrangements were made to transfer a membership in the New York Stock exchange at $65,000, up $7,000 from the previous sale.

This is the second advance since the value of a seat hit a twenty-year low of $51,000 on June 15. The high price this year was $75,000 on January 12.

Pennsylvania Railroad Co. sold to the investment firm of Gregory & Sons of New York an issue of $6,330,000 Equipment Trust certificates bearing 2½ per cent at a bid of 100.375, equivalent to an interest basis of about 2.69 per cent.

The Securities Commission in Washington reported that dollar value of sales on all registered securities exchanges in May declined 22.4 per cent from April and 53.7 per cent from May, 1937.

The Michigan Public Utilities Commission announced in Lansing, Mich., it had granted preliminary approval of the Detroit Edison Company's petition to borrow $15,000,000 from banking institutions, on promissory notes, to finance construction and improvement projects.

The commission ordered that the notes, to mature July 1, 1945, bear interest not to exceed 3½ per cent per annum, payable semi-annually.

Cement prices have been lowered 4 cents a barrel in Atlantic seaboard areas, it was reported in trade circles. Representatives of leading producers characterized the cut as an "adjustment" to meet competitive conditions. The new quotation, New York delivery, is $1.85 a barrel in paper bags.

The National Tube Company, a subsidiary of U. S. Steel Corporation, announced reduction, effective July 1, in the prices of pipe, boiler tubes and seamless mechanical tubing.

GAG DROUGHT

This is alarming.

Pittsburgh is opening a battle on smoke to end all battles on smoke. And the result, of course, is going to be the end—eventually—of all jokes about smoke over Pittsburgh.

Jokesmiths: watch it. Whither are we drifting?

New York and noise used to be stock joke material, but the anti-noise campaign seems to have checked that subject off the list. If things keep up like this, the professional gagsters some day are going to be left with nothing geographical to joke about.

No jokes about:

The wind in Chicago.
The fog in San Francisco.
The emotional chill in Boston.
The altitude in Denver.
The blasts of hot air in Washington.
What a situation!

A REPUTATION TO MAINTAIN

Whatever became of surrealist art? Nothing in particular became of it—the public simply got over the shock after a little, and proceeded to turn its attention to something else.

And maybe that's too bad. Something that a lot of people probably haven't thought of has just been suggested by an observation a very conservative painter made about this school of painting.

Studies of damsels with clocks in their foreheads and lamb-chops hanging from their hair may be merely a passing experience to you, but to gallery-goers of the future these paintings are going to be clues to the character of our time.

A conservative painter has predicted that surrealist art will live, and when a conservative painter says that about a radical school of painting, the chances are he's right.

If your grandchildren are not to blush and simper apologetically when they speak of you, something, certainly, must be done about the situation fast.

Maybe there's nothing left to do but feed the artists after all. Good, nourishing food to build up the constitution and brighten—normalize—the cast of mind.

A COUPLE OF REMINDERS

If a large amount of publicity had been given to the recent Atlantic City convention of the Industrial Research Institute, there'd probably have been considerable mind-changing going on about two convictions of long star.

The principal speaker at the convention's opening session was Maurice Holland, nationally known industrial research director. Holland stated frankly that both Germany and Russia were doing a vastly greater amount of valuable research in industry and business than the United States. "We want to increase the productivity," he said of this country's research body, "by giving national direction to their efforts."

It was agreed at the convention that there was a need here for "patent money—money willing to wait a long time for returns." Delegates to the convention were representatives of a number of the country's greatest businesses.

It seems that (Correction No. 1) there are actually other countries that are doing some things better than we. And it seems that (Correction No. 2) business is not the arch-enemy of everything savoring of long-range planning.

Business' disagreement with many political long-range plans has resulted in an unjust conception of the business man as a congenitally short-sighted muddler-through. But business does its own long-range planning.

BON VOYAGE

A refreshing wind strayed into the news columns the other day and moved off laden with a briny smell of adventure.

A young skipper of a modest fishing vessel put out from New York harbor, bound northward for the Arctic. He looked forward to going as far as the ice would permit, and he guessed he'd be back along about September.

His name was Capt. Bob Bartlett, and he figured he'd be spending his sixty-third birthday somewhere north of Greenland. It was all old stuff to Captain Bartlett, but none of the excitement had gone.

He did his first exploratory sailing in 1897, with Peary. When he sailed from New York the other day it was his fifteenth polar voyage.

"All I want," he remarked before he weighed anchor, "is the strength to go in my little schooner, for that is all I have, and when she stops so do I."

Which sounds as if "Captain Bob" was a man content with little enough; but there's more than one man half his age who knows the captain is wealthier in life's treasures than most men can ever possibly hope to be.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Three times as many men as women risk crossing diagonally, as reported by A. R. Ellis, of the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory. They risk their lives to save just a fraction of one second! Just as many women as men are middle-of-the-block jay walkers, although it takes four seconds longer to cross the street there than at the corner. As suggested by Wm. Morton Wheeler, Harvard biologist, when Linnaeus named man Homo Sapiens—wise man—he was probably speaking in sarcasm.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Dr. Harold Lasswell, of the University of Chicago, says that all dictators are characterized by extreme anxiety, fear, feeling of insecurity and profound loneliness. To achieve security and break their isolation, they strike their enemies right and left and murder their way to power. They strive to overcome these feelings of anxiety by exacting slavish obedience from others, and punish disobedience with death. They sway multitudes by their oratory because they fly into the passions that the crowd would like to indulge in and, by applauding the passions of the orator, the crowd and speaker go crazy together. Sounds just like em, doesn't it?

Answer to Question No. 3

3. So two of our leading experts on population, Drs. Warren S. Thompson and P. K. Whelpton, argued in a recent address to the American Academy of Political and Social Science, population increases the people seek to break over their boundaries and claim other territories that have the resources they desire. This is especially true when they enter on industrial development and need raw materials and markets. These students do not justify war from these causes but merely point out that these conditions do cause wars and—until we allocate the world's resources—always will. Copyright 1938, John F. Dille Co.

WASHINGTON—The big business tycoons who met a group of New Deal militants at the home of Assistant Secretary of Commerce Robert Patterson, on the night the President made his radio speech, got an earful of the Administration's views on enforcing the anti-trust laws and investigating monopoly.

Solicitor General Bob Jackson and Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold, No. 1 and No. 2 trust-busters, gave them the low-down straight from the shoulder. "Whether you like it or not, gentlemen," Jackson told the industrialists, "it is absolutely imperative for the welfare of the country that it get a realistic picture of underlying economic and financial facts."

"It is vitally important to know what effect taxes have on industry; for example, whether it is true the capital gains and undistributed profits taxes hurt business or didn't hurt business. Both business and the Government ought to know how various kinds of taxes operate on the economic system."

"It is our intention to get this information. We hope you will co-operate with us, but whether you do or don't we mean to get at the facts and bring them to the light of day."

Arnold, former Yale law professor, also tossed out some pointed plain talk, sandwiched between salty witticisms.

"This monopoly investigation," he said, "is not going to be a 'witch hunt.' Get that out of your mind. We are not after headlines, and we most emphatically are not out to 'get' anyone or any corporation."

"Our purpose is to get the facts about our national economy; how it operates, where it is going, what are the causes of its trend. We propose to get this information in an organized and scientific manner, so that we know what we've got after we get it."

"As to enforcement of the anti-trust laws, I can tell you this: As long as I am head of the anti-trust division, violators will be prosecuted to the hilt. There is going to be none of this stuff of enforcing the law on Monday and carte blanche for the rest of the week, the policy under previous Administrations. We are making no threats and issuing no ultimatums, but as long as the law is on the statute books I am going to enforce it."

"That doesn't mean, however, that a business man can't come in and discuss his problems with us. My door is always open to anyone who wants to come in and lay his cards on the table and frankly talk things over. Despite a quite general belief in certain quarters, well known to you gentlemen, we are not devils with horns, as you can see for yourselves."

Business Representatives

This was the third informal talk that the business leaders and New Deal generalissimos have had in a month.

The get-togethers were instigated by W. Averell Harriman, liberally inclined head of the Union Pacific Railroad, former NRA executive, and chairman of the Business Advisory Council, when it became certain that Congress was going to authorize the monopoly probe recommended by the President last spring.

Their purpose is to enable the industrialists to exchange man-to-man views on the investigation with the real powers within the Administration. Harriman believes that certain basic reforms must be made in the economic system and that business stands to gain more by cooperating in making these changes than by persisting in an intransigent attitude.

The business conferees so far have been confined to members of the Business Advisory Council. Most of them are inclined to be friendly toward the Administration and some have held office under it.

Among the big-guns who sat in on the talks have been General Robert Wood of Sears, Roebuck; Clarence Francis of General Foods; Walter C. Teagle of Standard Oil of New Jersey; William L. Batt of SKF; Edward R. Stettinius of U. S. Steel; Marion Folsom of Eastman Kodak; Sidney Weinberg of Goldman, Sachs, a director of the New York Stock Exchange; S. Clay Williams of Reynolds Tobacco, former NRA head; Gano Dunn of J. G. White Engineering; and Arthur Whitehead of Dun & Bradstreet, one-time Assistant NRA Administrator.

New Deal Conferees

A very significant feature of these talks is that the Administrationites whom the business men asked to meet them have all been militant New Dealers. Not one of the President's conservative lieutenants or advisers was invited.

This is very realistic thinking and shrewd strategy on the part of Harriman's group. They have grasped the fact that the young crusaders are the real power in the inner White House council on basic economic issues, and that the Administration's attitude toward business is being powerfully influenced, if not largely shaped, by them.

In addition to Jackson and Arnold, the New Dealers who participated in the confabs were Bill Douglas and Jerome Frank of SEC; Herman Oliphant, Treasury counsel and author of the undistributed profits tax; Dr. Isadore Lubin of the Bureau of Labor Statistics; Dr. Leon Henderson, WPA economist; Tom Corcoran, Ben Cohen; and Laughlin Currie, economist of the Federal Reserve Board.

GLIDER CRASH FATAL
Zion—(AP)—David Hosken, 17, a student at the Zion preparatory college, was killed last night in a glider accident, one half mile west of here. He was the son of Albert Hosken, former president of the Illinois Well Diggers Association. Witnesses said young Hosken was climbing too steeply when he released his tow rope, attached to an automobile, at 150 feet. The craft lost flying speed and nosed down. As he struggled to right it, the connection holding his safety belt to the glider seat broke, and Hosken fell to the ground. The glider crashed nearby.

Cost of European Travel Discussed by Dr. Eugene Vest

Dr. Eugene Vest was guest speaker yesterday afternoon, when 60 women of the Aid society of Grace Evangelical church gathered in the church parlors for their monthly meeting. Dr. Vest, who returned some time ago from several months of foreign travel, chose for his subject, "Prices of European Travel."

Mrs. Norman Dietrich introduced the speaker, who gave his listeners an interesting glimpse into the monetary difficulties which travelers abroad experience upon entering various countries. He also discussed prices at hotels, cost of travel, food, movies, and books, and admission fees at various art galleries.

Special music included a vocal solo by Mrs. Ray Herbert accompanied by Mrs. R. Fred Krahler, a cornet solo by Mrs. Krahler with her daughter, Miss Marilyn, at the piano, and a vocal duet by Mrs. George D. Nielsen and Mrs. A. Klein, accompanied by Mrs. Ray Wulbrandt.

A brief business meeting conducted by Mrs. Klein, the society president, was followed by serving of refreshments in the church basement. Members of Section No. 5, with Mrs. Dietrich as chairman, were co-hostesses for the afternoon.

A social meeting was announced for Wednesday, July 7, when Section No. 1 will entertain.

Teen-Age Bolero and Frock

Marian Martin

PATTERN 9704

Gayer of the gay, newest of the new, is Pattern 9704. The fewest possible seams—yet it's immensely attractive, and right for every moment of a 'teenster's' day, all summer long! Look how cleverly the built-up waist follows the curve taken by the jolly little bolero (which will look nice with other dresses too). Picture yourself in this sweetheart of a Summer holiday frock—with neckline high or square cut—and ric-rac braid decorating both dress and bolero. Fabric choice, like the making, is easy. A peasant print or floral cotton for everyday, a silk print for "best."

Pattern 9704 may be ordered only in junior and misses' sizes 10, 12, 14, 16 and 18. Size 14 requires 3 1/4 yards 36 inch fabric, and 5 1/4 yards ric-rac.

Send fifteen cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, name, address and style number.

New York, June 30.—(AP)—Booming activity in the stock market in the past ten days was reflected as arrangements were made to transfer a membership in the New York Stock exchange at $65,000, up $7,000 from the previous sale.

Home of County Hermit

"Be it ever so humble—there's no place like home."

Ernest Sprague, Wyoming township hermit, in a desire to get away from it all, has built himself a half-cave, half-shack on a Lee county hillside far from any of the maddening crowd. Here he lives in a closeness to nature which must assure a communion with her visible forms.

This country home, pictured above, is located on the banks of Dry creek, a tributary of the Indian creek, about a mile north of Paw Paw. Mr. Sprague subsists on a state old age pension. In this simple form of living he finds little need for money and it is reported that the chief items of his daily menu are onions and bread.

Occasionally Mr. Sprague is seen in the village of Paw Paw where he goes almost daily for his mail; but more often he spends his time on his quiet little plantation, resting in an old chair under the trees and listening to the gurgle of the brook.

COMMITTEE TO POLL PRIMARY, NORTH DAKOTA

To Determine Extent Of Absentee Balloting In State

Washington, June 29.—(AP)—Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex) announced today the Senate campaign investigating committee would poll all county auditors in North Dakota at once to determine the extent to which absentee ballots were used in yesterday's primary election.

At the same time, Sheppard told reporters that he did not believe speeches by President Roosevelt, in behalf of candidates in primary elections, would fall within the committee.

The committee's action in the North Dakota situation, he said, was in response to a request from Senator Nye (R-ND) that the survey be made in the "cause of clean elections."

Nye was leading Governor William Langer for the Republican senatorial nomination by about 15,000 votes when a third of the precincts had reported.

Sheppard told reporters that although Nye did not clearly indicate what use could be made of the

And let us rejoice that she is free from all care,
While we in this valley of tears still roam.

information, he assumed the North Dakota senator wished to compare the number of absentee ballots with those cast in previous primaries to determine whether there had been any "ballot box stuffing" by that means.

Sheppard said meanwhile he had read a report by the workers alliance, organization of WPA workers, on the speech made to them by Aubrey Williams, deputy WPA administrator.

He said he would make a further study of the report and compare it with Williams' own version of his remarks.

Sheppard was asked whether the committee would regard speeches by President Roosevelt in the same light as the Williams speech. He replied that he was not authorized to speak for the committee on that point.

Markings on the eggs of birds serve different purposes. On some, the presence of color seems to be of little use, but, in the case of most birds that nest on the ground in dangerous places, the mottled color blends with the surroundings and makes the eggs hard to see.

When Lincoln Saw the Nation Divided

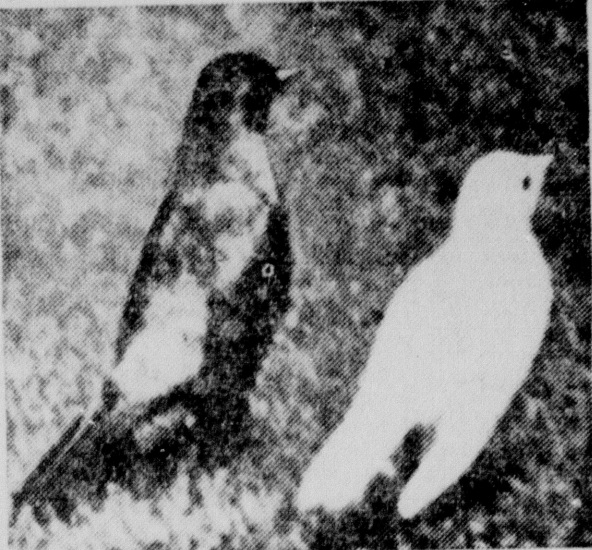

When Lincoln Saw the Nation Divided

THE course that Abraham Lincoln charted after 1861 was slow evolving. In March of that year Lincoln still believed that the struggle was a mere quarrel over the extension of slavery. Still blinded by the provincial bias of Springfield, still without extensive contact in Washington, he did not see that the south in secession sought actual independence. It was only during the next eight months that he really recognized a nation within a nation in the south; a south in which both those who hated slavery and those who espoused it sought separation from the north.

Then Lincoln formulated his historic course. He set out to build a defense of the Union. He expressed this in one of the most remarkable state papers of all time, the First Message. It seemed to reflect the Lincoln that had been emerging gradually for 20 years. This was the Lincoln who believed that the basic issue after all was the preservation of the Union, of the ideal of democracy. So he declared "This is essentially a people's contest. On the side of the Union it is a struggle for maintaining in the world that form and substance of government whose leading object is to elevate the condition of men..." Lincoln is shown above on the 5-cent red of the issue of 1870. The stamp is enlarged.

Found and Photographed at Last—A Perfect Specimen of Albino Robin

A white (albino) robin is a rarity in the world of birds, but pictures of one are even more rare. Here are pictures of a perfect specimen discovered by Albert Dixon Simmons, Cleveland naturalist, the only one he has ever been able to photograph in years of close study of birds. At left the perfection of the white plumage may be seen, and the center picture notes the contrast as compared with the parent bird, which reared the strange youngster as carefully as the rest of the family. This lack of discrimination lends strength to the theory that birds are color-blind. The photo at right shows the albino bird with wings spread, bravely learning to fly. Such birds are especially rare because their conspicuousness increases all natural dangers and hazards. Simmons refused to reveal where he found the white robin, fearing that it might fall victim to some collector who might like very much to add a stuffed albino bird to his collection. With some of the same characteristics found when albinos appear among flowers, animals and humans, this rare bird gives an appearance of having pink eyes, because the eyes are colorless, revealing the background of blood-vessels which gives a pinkish tinge to pupil and iris. Albino traits are caused by lack of pigment, and in so pure a state as in this case it is extremely rare among birds. (Copyright, 1938, by Albert Dixon Simmons.)

LAWRIN'S OWNER DEBATES FUTURE OF HIS CHAMPION

Inglewood, Calif., June 30—(AP)

—Herbert M. Woolf, owner of Lawrin, which ran to an easy and almost uncontested victory in the American three-year-old championship stakes at Hollywood park yesterday, debated today whether to head east for other turf engagements or remain in bountiful California.

Woolf's Kentucky Derby champion had no trouble capturing the winner's purse—halved by pre-race agreement from $40,000 to $20,000—after his chief foe, Dauber, was scratched because of a lame leg.

While a disappointed crowd of some 50,000 offered sporadic boos, Lawrin galloped in seven lengths ahead of his only rivals, Wing and Wing, and Rommy, who teamed as one entry and earned $5,000 and $2,500 respectively.

Although his was a hollow victory, Lawrin was ridden a mile and one quarter by Jockey Eddie Arcaro in better time than the Kentucky Derby last May and set a new Hollywood mark of two minutes 4.5 seconds. The old record was two minutes 6.4 seconds.

The name "dime" for the American ten-cent piece came from an expression denoting payment in full by a kiss.

CALIFORNIA'S LAST BIG LAND EMPIRE TAKEN

24,000 Mountain And Seacoast Domain Was Bankrupted

Santa Monica, Calif., June 30.—(AP)—A new corporation emerged out of a federal bankruptcy court today to take over control of California's last great land empire, where 74-year-old May K. Rindge ruled with an iron hand for nearly a half century.

Conquered by debts, the 24,000-acre mountain and seacoast domain near Santa Monica may yield part of its territory for establishing a large county and state park. In return, public agencies indicated today, cancellation may be made of $1,140,000 of unpaid taxes—part of the $10,000,000 worth of obligations which caused the empire's downfall.

It is not the first time financial troubles have overtaken the owners of Rancho Topanga Malibu Sequit since Don Jose Tapia staked it out in 1802—riding as far as he could between sunrise and sunset—by grant of the king of Spain.

Mrs. Rindge is luckier than most. She retains a life interest in her unfinished $1,000,000 home, built on a headland chosen by her husband, Fred H. Rindge, Sr., before his death in 1905. She also keeps title to three beach front properties and the family homestead at Marblehead, Mass., where she lived as a bride.

Malibu Beach, where dozens of movie stars, directors and producers leased land for luxurious homes from Mrs. Rindge, will remain intact, the cinema settlers being allowed to buy their property.

In 1850 the rancho passed from Don Jose Tapia's heirs for an unpaid $800 grocery bill held by Merchant Mathew Keller. Its value today with the growing pressure of population in southern California is almost fabulous.

TREASURY NOTES EIGHTH RED INK YEAR ON BOOKS

Spent $1,360,000,000
More Than National Income

Washington, June 30.—(AP)—The treasury closed books today on its eighth consecutive "red ink" fiscal year, but found it owed less to private investors than it did a year ago.

Although the government spent $1,360,000,000 more than its income, the national debt was only $700,000,000 higher than a year ago because part of the deficit was paid by using idle gold.

Meanwhile, the social security and other governmental trust funds poured in $1,048,943,000 for investment in government securities. Thus the treasury had about $300,000,000 left with which it retired some of its securities owned by private investors.

The treasury now owes about $4,300,000,000 to its own trust funds. $2,562,000,000 to the Federal reserve banks and the rest to the public. In the fiscal year starting tomorrow, however, the treasury will have to return to the market to borrow roughly $2,000,000,000. This will be in addition to the billion it will automatically borrow from trust funds in order to finance the huge new spending-lending program.

U. S. Debt Growing
The debt now is $37,125,000,000 and may rise to $40,000,000,000 in the next year. It averages $287 a person, but was slightly higher early in March before income tax payments and gold use cut down the burden. The record high was $37,814,477,017 on March 12.

Receipts during the last 12 months increased $1,000,000,000 over the previous year, and expenditures of slightly more than $7,600,000,000 declined $400,000,000. Thus the 1936 deficit was about half that of the previous year and was the lowest since 1931.

Expenditures next year may reach $8,500,000,000. Receipts, meanwhile, are expected to drop from this year's $6,200,000,000 to about $5,500,000,000 because of the effect on the business recession on income and excise taxes.

The budget bureau now is sitting over the $12,000,000,000 appropriated by the last Congress to determine how much of it will be spent in the next 12 months.

Hobo Candidate Visits Capital

As usual, each department will be asked to set aside reserves which usually range from 5 to 10 per cent. This year the departments actually saved half of the $400,000,000 reserves.

WHEAT, COTTON POLICIES MUST BE OUTLINED

Decisions Next Six Weeks
May Influence
Exports

Washington, June 30.—(AP)—The agriculture department must make two policy decisions within the next six weeks that may strongly influence exports of cotton and wheat during the coming year.

The decisions will be on rates at which the government will make loans to producers desiring to withhold crops from market.

Under "ever normal" granary storage provisions of the new farm act, the government is directed to provide such loans when surpluses accumulate or prices drop below 52 per cent of "fair" price goals set up by Congress. Surpluses in both cotton and wheat are virtual certainties.

The law allows the department wide leeway in making loan rates. For wheat, it may be between about 50 and 86 cents a bushel, and for cotton between about 8.37 and 12.07 cents a pound.

Officials drafting the programs said if loan rates exceeded market

Prettiest Murphy

Sure, they picked the loveliest Irish rose out of all the people who went to the party at the ranch of Justice Charles S. Murphy near Paxton, Mass.—and, indeed, it just had to be a Miss Murphy! For it was the annual reunion of the clan Murphy and judges in the beauty contest decided that Miss Dorothy Murphy, above, of East Providence, R. I., was the prettiest girl among the 10,000 Murphys present.

levels, domestic markets would have to raise their prices to the loan rate. That would raise American prices above world prices, they said, and foreign buyers would turn elsewhere for supplies.

The 1937 cotton loan, which expires today, was nine cents a pound. Officials said they were considering a slightly lower loan on this year's cotton because the average market price is below nine cents and exports have been declining.

On the basis of the average farm price of wheat on June 15, a loan on the grain above 70 cents would tend to raise domestic prices and give Canadian and Argentine wheat growers a price advantage in foreign markets.

Southern Illinois Wheat Crop Moving To Market Today

West Frankfort, Ill., June 30.—(AP)—Southern Illinois' wheat crop was moving to the market today, but with the increased use of the combine and other modern machinery, much of the old time festive air of the threshing season was a thing of the past.

Farm wives formerly attempted to outdo each other in providing huge meals for the army of harvest hands, but the modern machines cut, thresh and sack the wheat in one operation, with a minimum of labor.

The yield in this section was far below last year's high or about 25 bushels to the acre. Estimates ran from 12 to 16 bushels. The crop was moving at a top price of about 65 cents a bushel.

More than 13,500,000 trees were planted in New York state's 1936 reforestation program.

Iowa's Governor Possesses Key To Strike Agreement

Newton, Iowa, June 30.—(AP)—Governor Nelson G. Kraschel, for the second time this week, held the key today to possible settlement of the sit-down strike at the Maytag Washing Machine company plant, one of the largest factories in Iowa.

Committee for Industrial Union workers last night rejected a company peace proposal offered by the governor, by submitting one of their own.

A group of strikers held peaceful possession of the plant, which they took over a week ago today after walking out of it May 9 in protest against a 10 per cent wage cut.

Seized For Evading $8,600 Sales Taxes

Chicago, June 30.—(AP)—Theodore Antman, 43, an automobile finance company official, was seized by state investigators yesterday and charged with withholding $8,600 in sales taxes. It was the eighth arrest in less than a week.

Thomas G. Bugan, attorney for the state department of finance, said tax frauds discovered so far aggregated $84,000.

Trial of three brothers, owners of a south side grocery chain, on charges of conspiracy to defraud the state of $30,000 in sales taxes, was continued yesterday to July 28. The three, John, Chris, and Gust Marias, were released on bonds of $4,000 each.

Game Says

"N" LOOP WIN IN ALL-STAR GAME SEEN

Medwick Thinks Out- field Will Gang Pitchers

Chicago, June 30.—(AP)—Joe Medwick, the chunky little outfielder who picks up a base hit now and then for the St. Louis Cardinals, backed in with the opinion today at the National league all-stars outfield is going to gang up on those American league pitchers come July 6 at Cincinnati.

Joe isn't of that opinion because he suspects he'll be one of the National league's starting outfielders. In fact, he ran right over the name of Medwick as he scanned the line-ups for the annual contest he thinks will end with the National leaguers holding twice as many victories as the one they possess now after five tilts.

"I think it's fairly even in all departments except the outfield," said Joe. "I think we have a big edge there. We'll have Hershel Martin, Ival Goodman, Mel Ott. If he doesn't play third, Joe Moore, Hank Leiber and Lloyd Waner to pick an outfield from and there's plenty of power there."

"The American league outfield isn't so hot, at least on paper. Earl Averill of Cleveland is the only man who really has been hitting. Of course, anything can happen in one game and fellows who haven't been hitting may start then, but on the records I think the outfield gives the National league the edge."

Not Much to Choose
Medwick doesn't think there's much to choose between the pitching staffs. It all depends, he thinks, on the breaks of the game which may find one pitcher "hot" from the start of his three-inning trick on the hill and another a slow starter who gets hit hard before he has a chance to get going.

"I'm not going to put myself on the spot by naming a lot of players I think should have made the teams, but I can think of a few fellows who should be in that American league lineup because of their records. Ken Keltner of Cleveland is one boy I think should be in there."

Joe has played in four all-star games and has performed commendably with the stick, making six hits in 14 trips to the plate. He had two doubles and two singles in five trips last year but gladly would have traded singles for one long wallop such as the homer he made with two on base back in 1934. He hopes to connect for some long ones at Cincinnati.

If he doesn't, that outfield offense he thinks so much of is liable to come apart at the seams.

OUTSIDERS SOMETIMES WIN.

Denver (AP)—The U. S. Open golf championship has been won several times in recent years by comparative "outsiders." Among these were amateur Johnny Goodman, Olin Dutra, Sam Parks, Jr., Tony Manero and Ralph Guldahl.

A fishing boat sailed into the harbor at Quimper, French port, with a strange catch. The net had hauled in a wild boar, found swimming three miles from shore.

New York, June 30.—(AP)—They are already calling for crying towels at Pitt. Coach Doc Sutherland not only lost 17 by graduation, but no less than nine of his hopefuls were declared ineligible by the new athletic regulations. Sutherland now is wrapped up in a tour of Scotland, trying to forget the reprieve says he'll bring back a bride. Anyway, the football situation at Pitt ain't what it used to be and you can get anybody's word on that—from Sutherland on down.

Leroy Haynes, Negro heavy-weight, returned yesterday after a disastrous tour of Europe. Connie Mack says the Yanks and the Indians have it on the Tigers. North Carolina State is going around looking for a bloody nose by scheduling 11 games next season.

Which southern school has its $4,000 press agent out scouting talent? A southern beauty here is so gaga over a National league hockey star that she has her whole apartment decorated in the colors of the Toronto Maple Leafs. Cleveland fans are good and sore on Julius Solters, who is wrestling with the most stubborn batting slump of his career.

Recently Pinky Higgins of the Red Sox seized the American league record for consecutive hits when he got his 12th. The old record (11) was held by Tris Speaker of Cleveland. To win Speaker finally got a hit off Walter Johnson of Washington. And he used a fango bat to do it. To which Moe Berg, educated catcher of the Cleveland Red Sox, said: "Speaker's record is unofficial. Two of his hits came off Al Schacht."

BLACK FARM BLASTS I. N. U. TEAM 11 TO 6

Kellar's Edge Out Home Lumber Co. Outfit 6 To 4

Powerful Black Farm sluggers, resembling the world champion-slugger New York Yankees in hitting power, combined a fourteen hit attack with splendid four-hit pitching to flatten the game I. N. U. Co. ten 11 to 6 at the airport Wednesday night in the second softball game of the evening to keep their hold on first place. In the first game between two second division teams, the Kellar's Groceries edged out the Home Lumber Co. ten 6 to 4.

Against the I. N. U. Co. the Blacks smashed out a five-hit-five-run attack in the first frame the entire batting order except C. Welty getting a trip to the plate. In the third they unleashed five more runs off seven hits after the I. N. U. showed signs of making a game out of it by bringing in five runs to tie the count at 5-5.

Replaced Anderson on the mound for the Blacks, however, and he kept the Utilities boys hitless the balance of the contest.

In the opening game between Kellar's and Home Lumber Co., the latter stepped into a 4 to 2 fourth inning lead only to have the Kellar's tie the count at 4-4 on Smythe's run in the sixth inning when Brownie Emmert weakened on the mound and loaded the bases on walks. In the first of the seventh inning H. H. H. man's double started the Kellar's on their victory spurt. Neuhausen next up was put out at first but Eddie Carlson reached base on an error by McNamera and H. Smythe clouted a double that brought in both Holderman and A. Carlson who had led off with a walk to first before Holderman stepped to the plate.

Flanagan Beats Off Challenges Of Kearney, Rush

Cliff Flanagan, No. 7, kept his position intact on the tennis ladder Wednesday when he repulsed the challenge of William Rush, No. 12, in a tough three-set match 0-6, 6-4, 8-6. Flanagan also stopped Charles Kearney's bid to grab No. 7 spot by a 10-8, 6-3 count. Kearney is ranked No. 8.

Amboyites In No Mood For Practice Game Win 19 To 8

The boys in the Telegraph office looked furtively at each other today when anyone mentioned softball. That's a word that sounds a sour note in the ear of every Telegraph employee.

Under the management of Rudy Wells the press boys gaily journeyed to Amboy for a "time-up" before their next league contest against the Cement Plant at the airport Friday night. But Amboy, last night, was about as hard to tune up on as a 1753 model melodeon and the press boys' fielding about as leaky as the bellows of a Sunday school reed organ.

Amboy took advantage of fourteen Telegraph errors and produced an 11-hit batting attack that took the locals through the traces 19 to 8.

MENOW BEATS WAR ADMIRAL BY 9 LENGTHS

Boston, June 30.—(AP)—The great War Admiral, reputed invincible under all conditions, revealed his inability to carry top weight in the mud against crack rivals yesterday when he trailed Hal Price Headley's victorious Menow by about nine lengths and two others by narrow margins in the Massachusetts handicap at Suffolk Downs.

A crowd of 66,000, largest in New England's racing history, was doubly disappointed, first by the last-minute scratching of S. C. Howard's Seabiscuit, last year's winner, and then by the Admiral's unimpressive performance as he met his first defeat in 12 starts and ran out of the money for the first time in his career.

Menow led every inch of the mile and an eighth of heavy going, turned in 1:52 3-5, and finished eight lengths ahead of D. A. Wood's Busy K. The latter had a head to spare over Mrs. Emil Denmark's War Minstrel, which nosed out the Admiral in a show photo. W. V. McGrath's Peligroso 2nd and John Hay Whitney's Flying Scot trailed away back.

Seabiscuit, scheduled to compete against War Admiral for the second time in a month, was found to be suffering from an injured tendon as Tom Smith, his trainer, was preparing him for the paddock. Smith reported the injury to the stewards long after the scratching deadline, 45 minutes before post-time.

CHUKAR PARTRIDGE LIKED.
Berkeley, Calif. (AP)—The Chukar partridge rates high with California sportsmen. "It is the best bird we've handled," says the California Department of Conservation. "A good producer under domestic conditions, a fine game bird and supreme as a table delicacy."

It has been estimated that the average woman eats only 83 per cent as much as the average man. Havana, Cuba, has a huge tree that grows in real Pan-American soil. The earth around it was obtained from every country in the western hemisphere.

THE giant reptiles of ancient times depended on their great strength to overcome their prey, as do our larger reptiles of today, such as crocodiles and larger snakes. It is the small species that depend on a quick strike with poison fangs to win their battles.

DO YOU KNOW—

That persons undertaking long distance swimming, high diving and prolonged strenuous exercise should make certain through medical examination that their hearts and lungs are in good condition.That the number of people who swim is constantly increasing? If you cannot swim, why not learn this summer, and if possible, learn properly from the start. A good swimmer is safer in the water than a poor one, or one who cannot swim at all.The above statements have been approved by the Educational Committee of the Illinois State Medical Society.
